Raging Rhino Slot Machine

The Raging Rhino slot machine has a massive 4096 winning lines. It has 6 reels and every single combination pays out. As you would expect, that means there are some big wins out there to be had, but also, some long losing streaks too.

As far as 6 line slots go, this is a pretty good one and has some nice features to keep it interesting. I like the graphics and sound effects, although I am undecided about the mathematics (number of wins it pays), which I feel could be improved upon.

One thing that really struck my when I played Raging Rhino slots, was the call of 'Rhino!' when you hit a rhino winning line - it is just the same as the Buffalo game. In fact, there are many similarities between those games.

Even the fact you need three symbols to trigger the bonus, then only 2 to re-trigger is the same as Buffalo, as is the multipliers on the Wild symbols.

Raging Rhino Slots Online

When I played online, I couldn't really find any big differences between this one and the real money slots version in Las Vegas or Atlantic City. Our free version is just as good, or perhaps better because it is impossible to lose money when you play it.

If you want to play

Raging Rhino slots for cash, this is only possible if you live in a place where the game has been regulated by the government. So, if you live in the UK you are one of the lucky ones, but if you live in the US then you will have to stick to the free version, or head to your local casino and play there.

One exception is New Jersey. If you live in NJ, the you are able to gamble online at one of the Atlantic City casinos.

Raging Rhino is very much the WMS response to the massively successful Buffalo slots game. It shares a lot of features with Buffalo (even down to the shout of "Rhino!" When you hit 3 or more of the main symbols in a row), as well as adding a few extra features on top.

As with Buffalo, the Raging Rhino slots game does not have traditional pay-lines, but instead, offers payouts on all combinations, as long as you have the symbols on consecutive reels from left to right. With Rhino, the format is a 6x4 screen as opposed to the 5x3 you get in Buffalo. This. Earns there are 4096 pay-lines, as opposed to the 243 in Buffalo.

When I was in Caesars Palace, I sat next to a couple, playing on the slots as a team. The lady said "Oh my! This game has 4096 ways to win!" Her husband replied "Yeah, but what they don't tell you is there are 4 million ways to lose!". They both chuckled to themselves.

Like a lot of games released in 2012 and 2013, the Raging Rhino game is ultra streaky (high volatility). This means that you could go for long periods without any meaningful win, then suddenly find yourself winning hundreds of dollars on a single spin, even if only playing minimum bet.

Raging Rhino is a 6 reel game, where there are no classic 'pay-lines' as such, because every single combination and permutation can give rise to a win. This means that essentially there are 4096 possible winning lines. Of course, the chance of actually hitting the entire 4096 lines all in one go are tiny, but it can actually be done if you hit a wild symbol on each of the 6 lines.

If you are lucky enough to hit the bonus end, you will find that the wild symbols become more frequent and also, they become multipliers. So, if you were to get 3 wild symbols lined up, they might each give a 3x multiplier, meaning that all winning lines are suddenly multiplied by 27x (3x3x3). Now, get that lined up with three of the top paying Rhino symbols and you have got yourself a phenomenal win. Hence why the game can go through such long winless periods, in order that it can pay out these huge wins in the bonus play.

That really gets the adrenaline going, as you watch in anticipation to see what sort of win you will be getting.

The opportunity to win big sums of money in regular play, even on minimum bet will appeal to a lot of penny players, but for others, the long periods of play in between without wins may make it less fun. Really, it's a case of choosing the right slot for you and the type of game you tend to enjoy the most.
